

Pamela Taylor

Member

Pamela Taylor was recently appointed to Interfaith Work's Board of Directors and also serves on the Advocacy Committee. In 2018 she was appointed on the Commission of Children & Youth by County Executive, Isaiah Leggett. As a longtime advocate for families and children, Pamela has worked in the mental health field with diverse populations for over 25 years expanding across multiple state lines to include: Maryland, Virginia, and Georgia. Pamela has a strong background in Family Systems. She is a facilitator of Strengthening Families Programs for Montgomery County Collaboration Council and has served on Montgomery County Grants Advisory Group.

Pamela is a Certified Teen Life Coach, and also holds certifications in Mental Health First Aid for Adults & Children. She earned a Masters in Counseling Studies, a Bachelors in Administrative Systems Management, and is currently pursuing a Doctorate in Human Services & Organizational Leadership.

Pamela was born and raised in Washington, D.C. She has two daughters and is employed by the Housing Opportunities Commission in Montgomery County. Pamela also serves and has formed partnerships with various churches and community service foundations in the area. She is a proud member of The Church of the Redeemer.