IW Caring Breakfast 2018

Our gratitude to everyone who made the 21st annual Interfaith Works Caring Breakfast an inspirational success! Master of ceremonies Armando Trull likened the service provided by Interfaith Works to his career as a journalist. He emphasized that he always listened to the people he was interviewing to truly understand their stories, just as Interfaith Works staff members listen to and accept individuals, meeting them wherever they are.

Rev. Ahbi Janamanchi of Cedar Lane Unitarian Universalist Church offered a memorable invocation of inclusion. IW CEO Shane Rock described IW's impact in the community and our goals to fight poverty and homelessness. He also presented Montgomery County First Lady Catherine Leggett with a gift with the inscription, "Thank you to County Executive Isiah Leggett and First Lady Catherine Leggett for ensuring there is more room at the table for Montgomery County residents."
